Traps Eagle In Snare Set For Coyotes

Big Bird Gives Fred Lalone
Hours Battle In Canyon

Bagging a clever old golden eagle in a trap baited for coyotes was the unique experience of Fred Lalone early this week.

The eagle, which boasts a wing spread of more than seven feet, today is on show at the Lalone home, 36 West Highland, where it is caged in an unused chicken run.

It took more than an hour of maneuvering to subdue the eagle after Lalone discovered his strange catch. At the time the trapper also had in captivity a small fox he had caught in one of the 33 traps comprising his trap-line.

"The bird was caught by one talon," he said, "and put up a real battle. I had to get a heavy sweater to throw over her before I could get her out of the trap. Once, when I got too close, she spread her wings, and one of them had so much 'push' I was knocked off my feet. Finally I covered it with the sweater, and the bird immediately stopped fighting. It was clever. It wouldn't fight, just bided its time and waited a chance to get away."

"When I tried to bring both eagle and fox down alive I found my hands full. That old fox took a nip or two, and the old eagle clawed me. The talon gripped my knife case so hard it left deep grooves in the leather. I was sure glad it got the sheath and not me. It was a case of kill the eagle or the fox, and the fox got it."

Golden eagles are scarce in North America, and particularly here, Lalone said. It is very odd that one was caught in a trap. Lalone said he had been trying out a new "scent," which might have been responsible for the bird's investigating the trap.

Lalone doesn't know what to do with the bird. "Maybe I'll let her go after I take some pictures. I sure don't want to keep her around the house for long. She's a wise, vicious old bird."

On Tuesday Fred's problem was further complicated when the eagle laid an egg.

Standing with his eye on the egg, considerably larger than a goose egg, he said, "I guess I will have to let her go—if I don't I'm liable to find a family on my hands."

The egg is a pale green, with speckles of a dark color spread over all.

Two Celebrations As Norrises Mark 44th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Norris entertained 27 members of their family in celebration of their 44th wedding anniversary Monday, on Washington's birthday. Over two decades ago the Norrises were married in Sierra Madre, and they have lived here ever since.

Mrs. Norris' sister, Mrs. M. C. Taylor and her husband celebrated their 37th anniversary at the same time. Although they now live in Hollywood, they too were married here.

A buffet supper was served, and a joyous reunion was had. Among the family was Mrs. Stella Dennison and George Norris, both of whom were born in Sierra Madre and have long been in their father's grocery business here.

City Health Center Finds Bigger Home In The City Park

The Sierra Madre Health Center has been moved from its quarters in the City Hall to the Park House. Both the baby clinic and the chest clinic will occupy the new rooms. This arrangement will be especially good in summer, as there is no waiting room in the City Hall but the cramped hallway. Patients visiting the park will have the advantage of the cool benches and shade of the trees while waiting attention. The clinic rooms are also more spacious than before.

Mrs. Gertrude Humphries, city nurse, will be in charge, as formerly.

Girls Set Fast Pace In Basketball

Without a sufficient number of players to compete in a regular game, the Sierra Madre girl basketball-players played in alternate groups Monday night at the Congregational Church. The holiday kept many of the star regulars away. Despite this fact some good ball was played. Miss June Lacy was high point miss for the evening, scoring twenty-five. Miss Angelina PerLee played such a sensational game as to make spectators wonder whether the women's Olympic games aren't missing a fine bet in neglecting to sign her up.

Mrs. Emilie Smith, Miss Jane Holland, and Miss Dorothy Rana-han were also present.

Parrot And 13 Canaries Loose In City Park

Thirteen canary birds and an ancient parrot named Bill were all on the loose Tuesday afternoon. While the parrot was startling passersby with his shrill "hello" from the top of a pine tree in the City Park, the canaries were being chased hither and yon, and brought to earth, one by one by the use of garden hoses.

The canaries belong, or belonged, to Mrs. R. C. Copenhaver. Nine of them were caught. Four of them were not caught. The idea of the hose was to make the birds heavy with water. They could not fly, and they could be caught. The parrot wasn't so easy. It had to be persuaded by its owner, Lida P. Grant that a tree was no place for it. That took time. But at last she won it over.

Mrs. Copenhaver is still hunting her missing canaries and the small culprit who unlatched the aviary door.

Friends Pay Honor To Dean Bode At Parish Reception

Dean and Mrs. Arnold H. H. Bode were given a fine reception by the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Ascension Wednesday evening at the Parish House. A large gathering of friends were present. Mrs. Bode, Dean Bode's son, Francis, and his daughter were heartily greeted by members of the city administration, prominent Sierra Madreans, and members of other churches.

The Parish House was beautifully decorated with acacia blooms, red plum blossoms, and peach flowers. Tall candles in green holders decorated the refreshment table. Under the direction of Mrs. Jessica Wright coffee and cocoa, sandwiches and cake were served. Miss Thomasella Graham and Mrs. M. D. Welsher poured the coffee. In charge of the decorations was Mrs. Marion Vannier. Mrs. Thomas H. Flather, president of the Guild, managed the reception at large. Songs were sung by Mr. Eakman and by Mrs. Louis Miller, of Altadena.

Chinese Teacher Writes Of Scenes In Shanghai War Zone

A letter from a Chinese girl in the war zone at Shanghai was received by Leonard Wammock yesterday. The girl, who teaches school in China, gives a vivid account of the fighting. At the time the letter was written, the actual fighting was ever coming nearer to the city proper.

Mr. Wammock returned from the Orient last Saturday. His ship, the Tatsua Maru, was the first in the war zone at the outbreak of hostilities. On his way home from Borneo, where he has been stationed for the past two years, Mr. Wammock was among the few passengers to disembark at Shanghai.

Mrs. Wammock preceded her husband home from Borneo by some months. Mr. Wammock was welcomed as the ship docked at San Pedro by many Sierra Madre friends and escorted home.

A dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wammock and daughter Miriam will be given tonight by Mrs. Marvin Coates at her home on East Central.

George Bancroft Star Feature At Warner's Theatre

George Bancroft, playing a rich man whose wealth buys everything but happiness, stars in "Rich Man's Folly," opening this week's film fare today at Warner's Egyptian Theatre, Laramie Park. An exciting story of newspaper life, "X Marks the Spot," with Sally Blaine and Lew Cody, a sport reel and comedy, completes the double feature program.

Joan Crawford plays the best role of her career when she takes the lead in "Possessed" opposite Clark Gable, opening Sunday. The second feature picture is "Heartbreak," with Charles Farrell and Madge Evans, and selected short subjects. "The Cheat," featuring Tallulah Bankhead and "Are These Our Children," with Ben Alexander and Beryl Mercer, opens Tuesday to run three days.

LEGION ENTERTAINS BIG CROWD AT ITS MERRY DANCE PARTY

The Women's Clubhouse was crowded last Saturday night, the occasion being a dance and card party given by the Legion and Auxiliary. Dancing to the music of a seven piece orchestra, lasted until midnight, while some played bridge and 500.

Bridge prizes were won by William Lees, Mrs. Emilie Sturmthal, Miss Mabel Appleby. Prizes at 500 were taken by William Bradley, Mrs. Tony Delvecci, and Mrs. George Gerhard.

Street Jobs Solve Local Relief Need

City Improvements Provide Work For Men On Committee's List

Something akin to a smile was to be found around the Central Relief Committee's headquarters this week when work appeared from half a dozen sources to help the unemployed. Public improvements took care of most of the men on the committee's list. The workers were distributed at the new city water basin, in Canyon Park, in Bailey canyon, and in cleaning up the parkways and unsightly lots in preparing the city to greet the Wistaria and Olympiad crowds.

The city force is about to finish the work of paving Esperanza street. The recent rains did their part in settling the levels that had been graded. The oiling started yesterday and men will be put to work on the shoulders. The force will then move on to Orange Grove.

SINCE THE STREET JOBS arrived there have been fewer transients visiting the relief headquarters. Chairman W. R. Humphries, of the relief committee and head of the local Red Cross, was summoned to Yuma, to tell the Arizona how the relief work is conducted, the fame of Sierra Madre's model system have reached there.

Photos Mark New Exhibit In Gallery

Local Camera Experts And Monrovia Doctor To Show Pictures

Sierra Madre's cameramen will exhibit their wares here next Thursday when the Little Art Gallery in the City Hall opens with a photographic exhibit. Ten men, including one Monrovia doctor, well known for his camera activities, will be represented. Several have won national recognition for their work.

The exhibitors will be Rudolph R. Hartman, A. R. Gerlach, Lindley Eddy, R. P. Conard, C. A. Wallbrecht, F. S. Ackley, Louis B. Ziegler, Ed Schneberger, E. B. Grey, and Dr. Frank McCann, of Monrovia.

The exhibit, which will be on show for one month, will be one of the most unusual ever given in the gallery, according to Mrs. Fred Griebner, chairman of the Art Gallery Committee.

Two of the exhibitors, Mr. Gerlach and Mr. Grey, former professional photographers, but are now retired and taking pictures merely as a hobby. Dr. McCann, according to Mrs. Griebner, has won several national photographic prizes.

Several of the cameramen have particular specialties. Mr. Eddy has taken many pictures of the Sequoias, and other Rocky Mountain shots. He has done much work for the National Geographic Magazine. Mr. Wallbrecht, who spent some time in Guatemala, Central America, will exhibit pictures of Aztec ruins and pyramids; Mr. Ziegler specializes on shots of the Canadian Rockies, while Mr. Schneberger's hobby is catching various phases of changing desert scenery.

A reception will be held in the gallery on the opening evening. Members of the Art Gallery committee will be hostesses.

MANY AT RECEPTION AT BORMAN STUDIO

Approximately 110 guests visited the studio of Leonard Borman last Thursday afternoon and evening at the reception given by the Guild of St. Catherine's of the Church of the Ascension.

Business Manager Al Myers, of Sierra Madre, has just been notified by Chairman William Eric Fowler, that he had been appointed a member of the Republican County Central Committee in the 48th assembly district, to represent this city, later being elected vice-chairman of the organization. Councilman Lester K. Layton was elected a member of the advisory committee.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will hold an organization meeting at the home of Mrs. Ella M. Wright, 233 Santa Anita Court, Wednesday, March 2nd at 1:30 p.m. Eligibility is through lineal descent alone.

City Judge Buried With High Honors

W. R. Lasater Given Military
Funeral As Entire City
Pays Homage

All of Sierra Madre paid an impressive tribute yesterday to the memory of William R. Lasater, for three years noted for his "quality of mercy" on the bench of the city's only court. Judge Lasater died while asleep Tuesday morning in his home at 168 Santa Anita Court.

He lived and wished to die quietly and complacently as the turning of a page. Judge Lasater was borne yesterday, with military honors, to his last resting place. The cortege started at Grant's and passed slowly along Central avenue. Business in the city, where the flag was at half mast, came to a standstill as the procession passed. American Legion Post 297, had charge of the funeral, and turned out almost to a man. Thomas Neale and Arthur Evans carried the casket. The Volunteer Firemen, in full uniform, marched in the funeral procession in honor of the deceased's membership in the old Firemen's Club.

The only services were held at the grave in Sierra Madre Cemetery. A rifle squad from R.O.T.C., Pasadena Junior College, fired the last volley. Trumpeters from the same school sounded taps. The Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, of the Congregational Church conducted the services and R. O. Calkin, chaplain of the Legion, assisted. The pallbearers were Mayor H. C. Reavis, City Business Manager Al S. Myers, Councilman Lester K. Layton, Deputy City Clerk Daniel H. Lewis, and Roy Pickett and Vincent Fleming, past commanders of the Legion.

Judge Lasater was born in Provo, Utah, December 15, 1888. He came to California at an early age and was educated in the schools of Pasadena and Los Angeles. He entered the automobile industry and became noted as an expert in Los Angeles. During the war he served with the 362nd Infantry, in the 91st Division, becoming a corporal. He later was assigned to the motor transport corps at Camp Lewis in Washington.

Eight years ago Judge Lasater came to Sierra Madre with his sister. His strength was failing. In Los Angeles he had made a name as an ignition specialist, and for a while, until his health forbade it, he tried to pursue that work here.

Three years ago he was appointed judge of the local court by Mayor A. S. Myers, with the approval of the City Council. During his service as judge he applied to the letter the meaning of the words he loved to quote "The quality of mercy is not strained."

Judge Lasater was historian and a member of the executive committee of the local Legion. His weekly contribution to The News, under the heading "Hot Leads," stirred comment by its flashes of wit and satire.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. L. S. High, of Sierra Madre his mother, Mrs. Regina A. Lasater, of Los Angeles, and two brothers, Herbert F. of Pasadena and Lloyd S. Lasater, of Los Angeles.

Council Pays Fine Tribute To Worth Of Judge Lasater

The following resolution on the death of Judge William R. Lasater, introduced at Wednesday's meeting of the City Council, by Councilmen L. K. Layton and Warren O. Preston was unanimously adopted:

"WHEREAS it has pleased God in his infinite wisdom to take from this life our friend and associate, William R. Lasater; and

"WHEREAS in the performance of his duties as judge of this municipality for nearly three years he has ever been guided by the highest principles of justice tempered with mercy; and

"WHEREAS in his death the City of Sierra Madre has lost a faithful public servant and the Council and other officials thereof an esteemed and cherished friend; now, therefore be it

"RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre that they desire to express their keen sense of loss and their heartfelt sorrow to the members of his family in their bereavement; and be it further

"RESOLVED that this Resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Council and that the City Clerk be instructed to convey a copy thereof to his immediate family."

Players To Put On Play By Coulter

"The Idealist" Selected As First Production By
New Local Group

The first play produced by the reorganized Community Players will be "The Idealist," by H. G. Coulter, according to J. N. Hawks, of the committee chosen to select plays. The board of directors is expected to approve the selection and the work of selecting the cast will begin at once.

Mr. Coulter is a Sierra Madrean and active in the local organization of players. He has written a number of successful plays, "The Idealist," calls for a cast of 10 performers. It is a modern piece, in fact a story of youth set a little beyond the jazz age. Its locale is Hollywood, and according to Mr. Hawks, it is Hollywoodish in character, so far as life and the modernism of youth goes.

No director has been selected as yet for the new production but it is expected that Mr. Coulter will supervise the staging. The date for the public performance has not been set.

"The Idealist" has been shown in Pasadena, Hollywood, and Long Beach, and proved excellent entertainment.

Colonial Air To Abound At City's Fete

Women Attendants, Flower
Girls To Wear Martha
Washington Costumes

Laces and graces of 200 years ago will clothe feminine workers at this year's Wistaria Fete, according to plans arranged this week between members of the Volunteer Fire Department and the Women's Auxiliary.

Not only will the 50 or 60 women working in booths and the outside tea room at the fete wear dresses of the colonial period, but men attaches will be dressed in "minute men" costumes, while flower girls will be seen in quaint Martha Washington attire.

Many busy needies have already started preparation of the costumes, in anticipation of the early blooming of the vine.

Members of the department department declared that buds have shown a promising growth and should reach the bursting stage rapidly if the present warm weather continues. It seems probable now that the fete will open about April 1.

PTA Arranges For Most Interesting Of Social Events

Borneo will provide the colorful material for a talk to be given by Mrs. Mary Wammock at a P.T.A. benefit tea, Tuesday, March 8th, at her home at 258 E. Central. Many curios which she and her husband gathered in their years of residence in the far land will be shown.

Motion pictures will also be shown by Rudolph Hartman. Afterward guests will go next door to Mrs. Marvin Coates' home for tea.

Funds raised by a silver offering will be devoted to milk for needy school children.

WILL SEW FOR CHILDREN The Woman's Society of the Congregational Church will meet at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning for sewing for the Community Children's Home. Luncheon will be had at noon. The business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock.

Registration Of Voters Closes Next Wednesday

Next Wednesday, March 2, is the last day for the registration of voters before Sierra Madre's municipal election to be held on Monday, April 11, when two Councilmen, a City Clerk and Treasurer will be chosen. Registrations for the Presidential primary election of May 3 may be made up to and including Thursday, March 24th.

Field registrars have completed their work here. Persons who have not been registered by them may have their names added to the rolls by presenting themselves to City Clerk Elmer A. Green or Deputy City Clerk Daniel H. Lewis.

It is your duty to vote—it will be impossible if you are not registered.

Observations — By LEE SHIPPEY —

GIN CHOW predicted that the Orange Show would be handicapped by torrential downpour. The day the Orange Show opened the sky cleared and stayed clear for days. Gin Chow must have meant the Orange Show in China.

But let a sprinkle come today and one-third of us will say: "That Gin Chow sure beats Col Hersey, doesn't he?" A weather prophet may guess right seven times out of eight, but we always notice the eighth time most and forget the frost warnings which saved our citizens' groves.

Two weeks ago I appealed for parking plantings for the Olympic Games, which would show we are more public than Monrovia is. We've already met with big response—from Monrovia. A wireless from there says they're going to give us the laugh.

Lima Street Field May End Quest For Baseball Diamond

Baseball in Sierra Madre was much nearer a possibility today as backers of the proposed team neared consummation of a deal which would make an uncultivated field available for a baseball diamond.

Frank P. Meyers, who is chief moving spirit in the plan to provide Sierra Madre with a hard ball team, declared today that plans were almost completed for leasing of a field on South Lima street between Romana and Manzanita. The property at present, he said, is under lease to Alec Trejo, who is contemplating planting the ground in potatoes and corn.

Mr. Meyers said Trejo may abandon his planting idea in favor of possibly greater returns from a ten per cent share of all receipts received by the team. If the ground is secured, he said, team members and fans who are pulling for a crack home town team will begin leveling it off immediately. Also they will start preparations for a dance, receipts of which will be used to provide uniforms and other necessities.

Two Polling Places Only For Municipal Election April 11

The City Council, on Wednesday evening, passed a resolution consolidating voting precincts, and appointing election officers for the municipal election to be held on Monday, April 11.

Voting Precinct A, comprising state and county precincts 1, 2, 3 and 4, west of Baldwin, will be at City Hall and Voting Precinct B, comprising 5, 6 and 7, will be at Norm's garage, 54 North Baldwin, and take in all the city East of Baldwin.

The election officers appointed for "A" are: Inspector, M. D. Welsher; judge, Mrs. Minerva A. Rigney; clerks, Mrs. Tillie M. Stimpfling and Mrs. Fannie R. Sea.

For Precinct B, inspector, C. J. Hammond; judge, Mrs. Ethel Hawks; clerks, Mrs. Ethel Davis and Mrs. Margaret W. Senour. The compensation was fixed at ten dollars.

'Round the Town

Mrs. Fred Shaffer of Sycamore place entertained five friends at luncheon on Wednesday.

Mrs. George W. Reed of 317 Grove street, enjoyed Tuesday with Mrs. John Coyle of Hollywood.

Miss Irene Middough of 196 East Central avenue, has been ill three days this week with a severe cold.

Earle Barlow of East Highland avenue, with friends enjoyed the National Orange Show on Saturday afternoon.

Howard Spears of 649 West Grand View avenue, entered Naval Training Station at San Diego, several weeks ago.

Mrs. Mabel Sutherland Bell of Glen Ellen, Calif., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mabel Sutherland, of Ramona avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Laidlaw of 83 North Sunnyside avenue, spent Thursday at the Orange Show, San Bernardino.

Joe Asbury, of Richfield, Utah, and Joe Eastwood, of Eagle Rock, former publishers of The News, were in Sierra Madre this week.

Quentin Patterson of Occidental College, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Patterson, and sister, Betty, of West Montecito avenue.

Miss Gwendolyn Kile of Long Beach, niece of Mrs. Stephen Petzel of Sierra Madre Canyon, turned her ankle on a stone while hiking between Robert's Camp and Sturtevant's Camp on Sunday.

Time Fixed For Central Extension

County Removes Final
Obstacle and Schedules Work
To Begin Late In March

"The road machinery and crew will be at work on the Central avenue extension at the East end of the Hastings' ranch the last week or March, or at the very latest the first week of April," declared George Jones, county superintendent of roads, yesterday.

Superintendent Jones and George A. Mitchell, in charge of county rights of way, are cooperating with the city authorities of Sierra Madre in ironing out all the wrinkles in the way of expediting the work of extending Central avenue through the Hastings' ranch, making a direct route West to Pasadena. All of the obstacles, excepting one, were removed several weeks ago, and the county department heads announced yesterday that the last barrier had been surmounted, and the work would be started as quickly as the red tape legal matters were adjusted, now that the City Council has prepared to improve Central avenue within the city under its agreement with the county.

The chief hurdle came in the opposition of the Elizabeth Rudy estate, which owns the last strip at the extreme Western end of the improvement. The Edison Company, The Pacific Electric Land Company and half a dozen private owners readily agreed to deed over the required areas north of the Pacific Electric tracks, West of the Hastings' ranch. Emanuel Bastody, executor of the Elizabeth Rudy estate, was finally located at Duarte Farm. No, he said, the Rudy estate did not favor the improvement, and would not comply with the county's plans.

The county was faced with the prospect of a condemnation proceeding, and its interminable delays. Pressure was brought on Mr. Bastody, but all arguments seemed futile, and for a while it looked as if there would be no through road to Pasadena this summer. Then "the dusky gentleman peeked out of the woodpile."

"If the county will improve the road south of the Pacific Electric tracks we will deed the strip required for the improvement on the north side," said Mr. Bastody.

The county heads got out the maps and took a look. The Rudy estate owned a ranch south of the tracks, and beyond that came the Wilcox ranch. The Wilcox place was bottled in with no outlet at all, and eager to contribute to any plan that would provide a road to the market place.

"There was nothing else to do but agree to improve the south side of the tracks," said Mr. Mitchell. "Mr. Bastody informed us that the Rudy estate is shortly to be distributed but that if we reached an agreement with him he, as executor, would gladly execute the necessary deed. We are doing nothing at the moment but the details and within a short time the last obstacle will be removed."

The county has not decided as yet whether or not the road work will be done by contract or by the county crew. The bridge over the wash will undoubtedly be a contract job. The unemployment situation at the time the county is ready to start will have weight in the decision. If the county does the work itself, as it did on Baldwin avenue and Sierra Madre avenue, the Sierra Madre Relief Committee will supply most of the labor. If it is done by contract the county will endeavor to have the contractor use as many Sierra Madreans as possible.

"In This Corner"— Well, There's Two White Hopes Here

Whether or not Jack Dempsey still has the old punch is a question. But it is doubtful whether the veteran mauler could have done any better in the way of wild swings and fiery glares than did two local gladiators last Saturday night during a "cheat" dance. Harley Hogan didn't want to be cheated. Bill Corlett wanted to dance. There was a brief tussle, then Harley's objections and Bill's determination took an active dislike for each other. Neither had read of the Geneva conference.

To the tune of "Kiss Me Again," or perhaps it was "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead, You Rascal You," fists flew furiously and with little affect until their snorting wielders were dragged to neutral corners by husky members of the American Legion.

MISSIONARY FROM THE ORIENT TO TALK ON FAR EAST AFFAIRS

Two outstanding speakers, Mr. Strachan of the Latin American Evangelization Society and Rev. L. A. Stanton of the Oriental Missionary Society, have been secured by the Woman's Missionary Society of Bethany Church for its meeting next Tuesday, March 1.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Citizens of Sierra Madre

Encouraged by the generous assurances of support provoked by the discussion of my name as a possible candidate for City Clerk of Sierra Madre,
I have decided to submit my name as a candidate for this important office at the municipal election to be held on Monday, April 11.

I believe I am thoroughly equipped to render a maximum of service to my fellow citizens, from an understanding of our local problems acquired through my long residence here during which I have taken an active interest in matters relating to the welfare of the city, and because of my experience as manager and accountant.

Though active in promoting the City's best interest, I have not been identified with and am not the candidate of any political clique or faction, and in the event of my election would have no interest to serve other than that of the City as a whole. It would be my aim to keep the public fully informed respecting all matters in which it is and should be interested, to safeguard its interest jealously always, and to give the best that is in me in the matter of courtesy and service.

Your support will be gratefully appreciated.

Respectfully,
WAVERLY E. PRATT.

THE Los Angeles County Supervisors have been advised by their counsel that since the proposed route for an electric railway and inclined plane to scale Mt. Baldy is wholly within San Bernardino county, it is not for them to pass upon the project to be furthered by private enterprise.

More than 13,000 citizens of Oregon have signed a petition demanding a State-wide vote on repeal of the State's prohibition enforcement act.

The National committee of organized labor this week adopted a resolution demanding that Congress modify the Volstead act to permit the manufacture of beer with a 2.75 alcoholic content.

Under the authority given it under a very old state law, San Francisco is about to employ a "town crier" and send him about ringing his bell and urging the citizens to register for this year's important local and National elections.

Dr. F. S. McBride of the Anti-Saloon League, is appearing before a Senate committee in Washington today to refute the charge of S. M. Schultz, of the Constitutional Rights Association, that arrests and deaths from alcoholism have mounted under prohibition and that the government has lost more than $8,000,000,000 in revenue as well as the expense of enforcement.

More than $15,000,000 was lopped off the appropriations of the State, Labor and Commerce departments by the House appropriations committee at Washington, but the prohibition bureau was again granted $11,369,000 with which to enforce the Volstead act.

In its effort to dig hidden dollars out of the mattresses, sofa linings and other hiding places of the small-time money hoarders, the Treasury department has proposed the issuance of a series of short-term bonds in $50 denominations and to bear interest at from 3 to 3½ per cent.

Florida's Plant Board this week lifted the ban on California citrus fruits so that hereafter, lemons may be admitted to the State the year around and oranges from May 1 to October 1, of each year. During the latter month Florida has no orange crop of its own. Heavy restrictions against California fruits are continued.

Already 312,960 more voters are registered in Los Angeles county for the presidential primary election of May 3 than were registered four years ago for a similar event. And there is still almost a month to go.

Relief is in sight for orchardists and vineyardists of California. Plans are being worked out whereby they may receive loans as needed up to $10 an acre for spraying and other crop-preparation work, from the $2,000,000.

The 5-cent shoe shine has come back to Los Angeles and Southern California. So has the old-time roving bootblack, with his shine kit suspended from his shoulder. The latter's presence in increasing numbers has caused the owners of stands to take down their 10- and 15-cent signs in favor of the 5-centers.

There being no fire department in Canoga Park in the San Fernando Valley, W. G. Lauesen, a real estate man, ran into a prayer meeting there on Wednesday night when his automobile caught fire, and yelled for help. The worshippers rushed to his assistance with an admonition from the pastor to return and resume the service when their task was completed. The county fire department arrived from Van Nuys half an hour later and now the residents want to be incorporated or something, so that they will have their own fire protection.

Orange county's supervisors have changed their minds about holding a special election to vote upon an unemployment relief bond issue. Their ability to pay the increasing tax levies has caused the taxpayers to inquire into cause for high taxes. When they found much of their annual tax payments being used to pay sinking fund and interest charges on old bond issues, two communities recently decisively defeated new bond proposals—and the supervisors took notice. Long Beach, just across the county line, has also just defeated a bond issue.

With a favorable report by the Pensions committee of the House behind it, a bill has been started through Congress that if enacted will provide pensions for the widows and many of the children of all American soldiers of all the wars. During the first year's operation of the measure an outlay of $35,000,000 would be required, reaching the peak at $280,000,000 in a five year period. Widows up to 40 years of age who had lived with their husbands five years would receive $20 a month; upon becoming 40 years of age, $30; fifty years, $40, and 70 years, $50. A pension of $6 a month for each child below 16 years of age would be allowed.

FAMOUS MASCAGNI OPERA TO BE GIVEN BY THE VALLEY CLUB

An analysis of Mascagni's opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," will be given on Saturday, March 5th, by Frederick V. Evans under the auspices of the San Gabriel Valley Opera Reading Club.

This opera was first produced in Rome in 1890, where it created a sensation. Italian music lovers forgot themselves in their uproar of applause and even called Mascagni the successor of Verdi, who had been the greatest opera creator Italy had thus far known. The drama upon which the opera is based is a story of Sicilian peasant life.

In presenting the opera Mr. Evans will be assisted by a group of prominent musicians. Mrs. Wheatley, president, will open the meeting at 10 a.m., in the theatre at Arcadia, on Huntington Drive between First and Santa Anita avenue.

"WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER" COMING

Returning to the stage as a thespian for the first time since last summer when he enacted the role of the theatrical producer in a production of "Many Waters," Gilmor Brown, noted producing director of the Pasadena Community Playhouse, will play the role of King Henry VIII in the elaborate revival of the famous romantic drama, "When Knighthood Was in Flower" by Paul Kester, to be produced with Maude Fealy and cast of 150 players from March 3 to 12. A year ago, Brown played the title role in a production of "Othello," and during the 15 years of the existence of the Playhouse, of which he was one of the co-founders, has played around 200 widely diversified roles. The revival follows the conclusion of the current farce-satire, "Censored" by Conrad Selzer, closing Saturday night, February 27.

Thousands Come Back To City's Trails

Nearby Resorts Get Taste Of Old Times As Hikers Tramp Up Into Snow

Bright and sunny weather brought heavy hiking traffic to Sierra Madre's mountain trails over the weekend. More than 3,000 persons pushed into the mountains from this city in search of the Southern California pastime of "playing in the snow in the sunshine."

Proprietors of nearby mountain camps said the hikers appeared in numbers resembling "olde times." Practically ever camp had a different report to make, although each spoke of heavy rainfall, record snowfalls, and great numbers of hikers.

At First Water Camp in Santa Anita Canyon between 1500 and 2,000 hikers were counted over Saturday and Sunday. Trees have begun to break out in spring greenery, and should be in full color within a week, the camp proprietors reported. Rainfall at First Water was almost 40 inches this season.

Heavy traffic was also reported from Orchard Camp, on the Mt. Wilson Trail. Usually hikers do not appear before noon, according to Mrs. Palmer Snow, the manager, but Sunday they began to straggle in at 7 a.m. and were still there at 8 o'clock that night. Snow line was reported less than a mile above the camp. Mrs. Snow declared the camp was without water for three days last week, due to a flood during the heavy rainfall which washed out two foot bridges and two cords of fire wood. Rainfall for the season reached approximately 34 inches.

At Hoogees, in Winter Creek of the Big Santa Anita, nearly 100 hikers were entertained. Here snow was still prevalent. Nearly 17½ inches fell during the fall of last week, according to Billy Murphy, who said it is probable the snow record of 62 inches, set in 1926, will be bettered this year. Rainfall this season is 45.88 inches.

Sturtevant Camp did a big business over the weekend. On Saturday night the camp put on a Valentine's Day dance, but hikers slighted it in favor of "story telling" before the big camp fire and playing games not so strenuous on weary legs, according to camp proprietors. Rainfall at the camp totaled more than 42.82 inches for the season, while snowfall reached 14½ inches.

Browsing deer, a record snowfall of three inches, and slides on the Santa Anita road being built in Santa Anita Canyon, were reported by hikers reaching Clarke's Halfway House and Fern Lodge on the Sturtevant Trail. Rainfall at Fern Lodge has reached more than 34 inches for the season, while the total at the Halfway House is 25.80.

Women Put New Dress On Parkway

Garden Section Of Club Supervises Work On Central Avenue

Parkways along Central avenue began to take on a new dress this week under the direction of the Garden section of the Woman's Club. The spading from Sierra Madre avenue to the business district has been virtually completed, while the planting is progressing with all possible speed. Ground in front of the Woman's club house, in front of the Congregational Church, as well as long stretches to the east and west, are already planted with neatly plotted rows of verbenas and geranium slips. Mrs. W. J. Lawless is supervising the work, as head of the Garden section.

The front terraced ground of the vacant lot to the west of the clubhouse is being cultivated, while the adjacent parkway is now beautified by the addition of several young palm trees. These trees will add greatly to the appearance of the street, especially when the pink geraniums and verbenas on either side of them are in bloom.

Miss Thomasella Graham states that there is a decided advantage in carrying out the planting program at this time, inasmuch as the plants being set out on Central will be grown and in bloom by summer, and will be in condition so that slips may be cut from them and spread in barren areas.

The Garden Section wants to stress the planting of poinsettia cuttings, which at this time are ordinarily being thrown away as useless. Mrs. Lawless states that if the dry sticks are planted now, preferably at the rear of vacant lots, they will insure green plants this coming summer and blooms next winter. They should be planted, she says, so that they will hide unsightly fences and outbuildings. The cuttings are best in 12 inch lengths.

Winter montebrelia and aloes are also good to plant now for next winter's beautification. Mrs. Lawless advises.

Republican Candidate for ASSEMBLYMAN

48th Assembly District (Includes Sierra Madre)

I am a lifelong Republican. I have lived within the bounds of this Assembly District 28 years. I favor: Lower taxes on real estate; no nuisance taxes; economy in government; more state and county funds for highways and other public improvements in 48th Assembly District; I favor 100 per cent Americanism and no Communism in schools; I favor all possible aid for the unemployed; my slogan — Put the new 48th Assembly District on the Political Map. If nominated and elected I would serve the whole district to the best of my ability. I am a Republican candidate for Assemblyman, subject to the primaries. Write me your suggestions as to what your community needs from state and county government.

Whole City Will Boost Boy Scouts

Alarmed because Scouting in Sierra Madre may be abandoned through the lack of community support, members of the local citizens' committee will meet with various civic leaders next Tuesday in an effort to create interest in the scouting movement here.

Civic groups of Sierra Madre have been asked by the committee, which consists of George Moran, George Morgridge and Vincent Fleming, to appoint committees to attend the meeting, which will be held in the American Legion room of the City Hall. Among the groups invited are the Masonic Lodge, Eastern Star, American Legion, Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, Congregational Church, Catholic Church, Episcopal and Bethany Churches, American Red Cross, Public schools, Woman's Club, P.T.A., and the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

The present committee points out that Scouting here, which means the continuance of the present two troops with a total of 27 members, is in grave danger of dying because there is no active support of the movement. To continue as part of the Pasadena-San Gabriel Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, there must be a strong local executive committee. At a meeting held about a month ago such a committee was appointed by the few persons who attended. It said, however, that the man selected as chairman, who was not present at the meeting, feels he cannot serve because of a lack of co-operation from other citizens.

Three members of Boy Scout Troop No. 1 were presented with merit awards last Friday night at a Scout Court of Honor held as part of the George Washington Bi-centennial celebration at the public school.

An athletic insignia was given to Emanuel Silverman, while Henry Nutzler received an award for first aid work and John Senour a life saving badge.

Honored for Valor

The Cheney award, consisting of a plaque, a certificate of award and a substantial cash contribution, was awarded to Private John B. Smith of the United States army air corps. The award, made annually to the officer or enlisted man of this branch of service performing the outstanding act of valor during the year, was made to Private Smith who, when a plane crashed into the building in which he was working, dived head first into the blazing cockpit and liberated the pilot's foot which was firmly wedged in the rudder bar. Smith, though injured by the crash, then removed the unconscious pilot to a place of safety.

"Food Preservation" was the topic of a speech given by Miss L. C. Abbey, economic expert, at the monthly meeting of the Sierra Madre Parent-Teacher's Association last week at the grammar school. In the absence of Mrs. William Middough, president, who was unable to attend due to illness, Mrs. Monnette Frechtman, pianist, recent newcomer to Sierra Madre, rendered two selections. The song "Dawn Boy" written by Mrs. Cecily A. Allen and Oscar Rasbach, has been adopted by the association as one of its songs and will be sung regularly at all meetings. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Warren O. Preston, hostess chairman, served tea and wafers.

LAW EXPERT TO TELL FORUM ABOUT NATIONS

"America's Present Condition Among Nations" will be the subject of Lieut. Alden G. Alley, professor of international law in the University State College of Law, who will be the speaker of the evening next Wednesday, March 2, at the Sierra Madre Forum. Lieut. Alley was secured through Dr. Frederick Roman. A dinner, in charge of Mrs. William Lees, will be served at 6:45 p.m., to which the public is cordially invited. Reservations for the dinner may be secured by calling Mrs. W. J. Lawless, Mrs. Emilie Sturthall or Mrs. John H. Robertson. As it is nearing the close of the Forum series, it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

Pupils Get Prizes Here For Essays

Youngsters Stage Tableau As Part Of Washington Birthday Celebration

Rosemary Ranahan and Gordon Blanke were first prize winners from St. Rita's, and the Sierra Madre public school in the American Legion contest for the best essays on George Washington. The awards were made last Friday night at the Washington Bi-centennial exercises, which took place at the grammar school auditorium. Second places went to man, A. L. Wissburg, and Wilbur Thayer Jr. of the public school; and to Francis Bradley, 154 North Mountain Trail, of St. Rita's.

Both Rosemary, who lives at 119 North Auburn, and Gordon, who lives at 271 North Sunnyside, were presented with medals in the presence of the packed house that witnessed the program.

HERE'S PRIZE WINNING ESSAYS IN LOCAL SCHOOL CONTESTS

Gordon Blanke Gets Medal For Paper On George Washington

The first prize in the public school contest was won by Gordon Blanke, 271 North Sunnyside, with the following essay:

By Gordon Blanke
George Washington was born in Westmoreland County, Va., near the Potomac River, February 22, 1732. He was the oldest son of Augustine Washington. Soon after George's birth, his father moved to a farm on the Rappahannock River. His father died in 1743 and gave the farm to George.

There were not many schools in those days and education was limited. Washington was an athlete, an expert rider and loved the woods. He also liked to imitate soldiers, so the children usually choose him for their leader. He was a serious scholar. His education was completed by the time he was 16 years of age. Among his studies was surveying. In 1748 Washington was made a public surveyor. His salary was large and he was very saving, so he was able to buy considerable land.

His brother Lawrence died in 1752 and gave George the estate of Mount Vernon. In 1755 he was given a position on General Braddock's staff. He showed much bravery under fire. He took part in public life and moved much in society.

Washington was one of six Virginia delegates appointed to the first Continental Congress. He was made a commanding officer of the Continental Army. He was President of the Philadelphia Convention of 1787 which framed the Constitution of the United States. Washington was chosen first President of the United States on April 30, 1789. In 1793 the prospect of war with France led to his appointment as Commander-in-Chief of the National Army. On December 12, 1799, he became ill and died December 14, 1799. He was said to be first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

Washington was six feet two inches in height, with brown hair, blue eyes, large head and hands, and strong arms. He was neat in personal appearance and fond of display. He was opposed to the use of tobacco, although he raised it on his plantation. He was a slaveholder, but he was a considerate master. At his death he owned 124 slaves.

Washington never tired of the dance, and was constantly organizing banquets, dances, balls and assemblies. He was also fond of the theatre. During the Revolution he always collected his officers about a table for a prolonged dinner, where there was much gaiety. He loved to have Irishmen about him and that proves a love of laughter.

Washington served two terms as President. By refusing a third term he set a precedent which all of the other Presidents have since followed.

During Washington's second term Great Britain and France were at war, but as Washington was opposed to foreign complications, and while he recognized the French Republic, he stood by his resolution to avoid interference in European troubles. Thus by his wisdom and determination did Washington prevent his country from engaging in entangling alliances.

He delivered his last Presidential message, turned over his office to his successor, John Adams, and retired to his home at Mount Vernon, where he devoted himself to agriculture.

Second Prize Winners In News Next Week

The second prize-winning essays in the Bi-centennial essay contests in the local schools, will be printed in The News next week. Mary Wassburg won second prize in the public school, and Francis Bradley in St. Rita's.

The judges were: George Rike-man, A. L. Wissburg, and Wilbur Thayer Jr. The essays were chosen by a number system, so that the names of the winners were not known until after the decisions had been reached.

Miss Mary Pfahler directed the entertainment program. A patriotic tableau was given by Sierra Madre school children, and songs in keeping with the spirit of the occasion were sung. The school orchestra furnished the music to a minut which was danced by 16 costumed pupils who had been trained by Mrs. Yerdia Adams.

In charge of the contest were A. H. Embree, Post Commander of the American Legion; Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal of the public school; and Rev. Hyacinth Clary of St. Rita's.

Rosemary Ranahan Is Victor At Contest Held At St. Rita's

The first prize in St. Rita's school contest was won by Rosemary Ranahan, 119 N. Auburn, with the following essay:

By Rosemary Ranahan
George Washington was born at Bridge's Creek, Westmoreland County, Virginia, on February 22, 1732. He was the eldest son and had three brothers and two sisters.

While at school Washington studied surveying with great care and with such mathematics that might be useful in war as well as in peace. In 1747 he met Lord Fairfax who was impressed with the Virginia youth. Seeing his intelligence and activity, Lord Fairfax commissioned Washington to survey his vast estate.

In 1751 Washington was appointed commander of a military district in Virginia, with the rank of Major. The French who held our western country, were pushing their lands in the East and Governor Dinwiddie sent Washington to the French commander, requesting him to move back. War followed and in 1754 he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Washington's bravery was conspicuous and he seemed to bear a charmed life. In 1758 he served in the British expedition which captured Fort Duquesne. After he resigned and, in 1759 married Martha Custis, a young woman of 27 with great personal charm.

Washington found the army very poorly equipped and undisciplined. But in spite of this he was able to force the British to leave Boston in the spring of 1776. His forces were too small to hold New York against 30,000 British troops, who appeared by the sea.

On December 25th he made himself famous by crossing the Delaware, in the darkness, ice and snow and marched nine miles to Trenton which was captured with the loss of only two or three Americans. Colonel Rahl in command was mortally wounded and 800 Hessians made prisoners.

Washington longed for the simple life of the country man and during the years of 1784-1788 lived in retirement. The Confederacy of the States grew steadily weaker and at last a convention was called to plan a central government strong enough to meet the difficulties and troubles, that were springing up on every side.

Washington was chosen one of the convention delegates from Virginia, and was made president of it when it met in Philadelphia in 1787.

When the time came to elect a President, only one man was thought of. Washington was unanimously elected as the first President of the United States and inaugurated in New York on April 30, 1789, before a great crowd of people who cheered him wildly.

Washington was elected for a second term but he declined a third nomination. He published his Farewell Address to the people after seeing Mr. Adams inaugurated March 4, 1797. After having given 25 years of his life to the service of his country, he was delighted to return to Mount Vernon.

George Washington was an outstanding figure, not only because he lived in stirring times and had a chance to distinguish himself but because as a man, he was a distinguished person. Tall, well built, with strong features, a man's voice, and a personality that brought respect, Washington was indeed a commander in every sense of the word. When he was serving at the battle front he was curt, often severe, and unflinching in his manner, a true soldier in every way. But when he was at home with his family and his friends, or when he was attending some public function of State, George Washington was the gentleman of fashion.

TRAINING AVOCADO TREES
By Jessie Ward Russell
Landscape Gardener

AN AVOCADO tree that has been trained in its youth will make a shapely tree and a productive one. The first three years are the most important ones in shaping up the tree.

The newly planted tree will need very little pruning as it will come from the nursery with its branches shortened. It should be shaded with burlap so that the sun will not burn the bark and also see that a strong stake is placed in the ground near its main trunk to keep it straight. As it grows its head should be kept up by tying from time to time. The side branches should remain to help shade the trunk.

By the second year, the stake should be removed and a strong 2x2 redwood stake 8 feet high should be driven in the ground about a foot from the tree. This stake is to remain as a support for the tree for several years. A smaller stake should be nailed to the large one at the top to brace the tree after it grows above the large stake. The cord used in tying the tree to the stake must be soft, strong and thick enough so that it will not saw into the bark of the tree as it moves in the wind.

Some pruning can be done the second year, just enough to cut out all the strong branches that have grown out from the trunk near the bottom of the tree. If these are allowed to remain, they will take the strength from the top of the tree and such limbs as will eventually lay on the ground will not produce good fruit, if any at all. Small branches and trigs should remain to shade the trunk.

By the third year, the tree should have developed a spread sufficient to shade the trunk when the limbs are removed for three feet above the ground. This should keep the foliage and fruit from touching the ground.

By the fourth year the Avocado tree should have made a splendid framework and little pruning will be necessary. Just enough to keep the tree balanced, to keep the fruit from lying on the ground and to cut out any dead wood.

BRACING LIMBS
Wires are used to brace the limbs of large avocado trees. Screw eyes are screwed into the large limbs and wires fastened into them and stretched from one limb to another so that they will brace each other. If there are several main trunks the wires

Shortage Of Funds Causes Suspension Of Health Clinics

City Clerk Green has received word from L. J. Pomeroy, Los Angeles County Health Officer, announcing the temporary suspension of the county medical clinics on account of the "budget having been cut 37 1/2 per cent and the demand increasing 50 per cent." He said provision had been made to take care of cases and the Board of Supervisors would probably provide funds later to restore the service.

HAVE YOU ANY JOBS? CALL THE RED CROSS

If YOU have work to be done—spading, planting, painting—anything—call the Red Cross. Your subscription money can be traded for labor. There is work to be done at this time of year. The Olympic beautification program calls for the help of every individual property owner and resident. So, if you can find work around your home that would improve the community by being done, put a man to work through the Red Cross.

This is the plea issued by W. R. Humphries, chairman of the local relief committee. Mr. Humphries emphasizes too that this is the particular season in which all planting for summer should be done.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

At the meeting of the San Gabriel Valley Firement in Sierra Madre last Thursday, Councilman Layton made an address of welcome that was very encouraging to the members of the local fire department. He said that the members of the Council and the town in general were grateful for the good accomplished by the firemen, both as fire fighters and for their willingness to help in any thing pertaining to the city betterment.

The men of the fire department feel that every one realizes the necessity of an efficient fire fighting force, therefore they strive to improve at every opportunity. Our affiliations with the different fire fighting organizations aid us in this respect. We learn from them and they learn from us.

We learn that other cities, some larger and some smaller than Sierra Madre, are not nearly so well equipped with fire fighting apparatus as our own. Before we had the Pierce Arrow truck and the small Buick truck, everything relied on the one large American La France. Now with the Pierce Arrow equipped with hose and ladders, we need not fear a second call.

The harmony that prevails among the men is an important factor in the success and efficiency of the work. This is only due to the nature of the men chosen for this organization. Not all is as foolish as Fire Flames may sometimes indicate, but still, many things happen that do not spell seriousness. Were it not for the informality, the intimacy and the real goodfellowship among the men, we doubt whether there would be the whole hearted interest that we are noted for.

In the person of Andy Liscombe, a new member, we have a fellow who has taken a very active interest in the Fire Department. "Andy" is the fellow that fills your gas tank, fills your radiator, fills your crank case, in fact fills you with everything, even "hot air," when you pull into "Shorty's." At our meetings "Andy" is quiet and we hope he continues so, for there are enough noisy ones. Let us forget, this is the night. Fire's Out!

PERSONAL and Intimate Glimpses of George Washington, as given by Mrs. W. E. Hitchcock, of Pasadena, before the club Wednesday morning, carried the audience back in fancy beyond the pages of the history books of their school days to pre-revolutionary life as actually lived by Martha Custis and George Washington. Mrs. Hitchcock's vivid word portraits were emphasized by many beautifully tinted slides taken from old portraits and paintings.

She told of the Washingtons' romance at Williamsburg, their stately wedding in the old Bruton church, the long 150 mile wedding journey made by coach and four to Mount Vernon. Many interesting glimpses of the interior of Mount Vernon were also pictured.

Preceding the address Mrs. Olive Baxter with Mrs. Hazel Simeral, accompanying at the piano, sang "Enchanted I Gaze," written in 1788 by Frances Hopkinson, who was a close friend of Washington and to whom he dedicated the song, which was often sung by Nellie Custis with Martha Washington at the harpsichord. This favorite song of Washington's is from the first re-print of the original. Mrs. Baxter also sang "The Second Minuet" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

During the box-luncheon hour Mrs. O. B. Manchester gave the regular literature review, which she entitled for this month "The American Scene."

Mrs. Manchester prefaced her talk with the quotation "There has been also the American dream—that dream of a land in which life should be better and richer and fuller for every man. It has been a great epic and a great dream. What now of the future?" (from James Truslow Adams).

"Distinctly an American contribution bringing to one the American scene," said Mrs. Manchester of the book list for February.

"The Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens" is recommended by Mrs. Manchester as an interesting life story of a man contacting life at many angles.

"The Epic of America," (Adams) was characterized as stimulating and provocative of thought. Agnes Repplier's "Times and Tendencies" are witty essays full of humor and wise generalizations of our day. Fiction worthy of attention included "Hunting Shirt" by Mary Johnston, and "The Weather Tree."

Mrs. Manchester also gave highlights from Channing Pollock's "The House Beautiful," in which the dignity of ordinary life is depicted.

Mrs. Griebelow, art chairman, announces the next reception at the little gallery for Thursday evening, March 3. The photography showing by local photographers some of whom have received national prizes, will include exhibits by Lindley Eddy, E. E. Schneeberger, F. S. Ackley, Rudolph R. Hartman, F. P. Conard, Dr. McCann of Monrovia, A. R. Gerlach, E. B. Gray, Louis B. Ziegler and C. A. Wallbrecht. The public is invited to attend.

A wonderful tale of adventure of many lands is the treat in store for club members on March 9 when Mrs. Oliver Bainbridge at 11 o'clock will deliver an illustrated lecture recital of personal experiences in India, Australia, Polynesia and the savage South Seas. Mrs. Bainbridge has spent over sixteen years travelling in out-of-the-way corners of the world.

The luncheon program is in charge of the public affairs department.

Masons Hear Tribute To Washington

Former Master Tells Of Visit To First President's Mt. Vernon Home

A tribute to George Washington—first President of the United States and first high commander of active American military forces—was quietly paid last Monday when local Masons participated in a simple ceremony at the Masonic Temple.

Former Mayor C. W. Jones, a past master of the local order, was guest speaker, and disclosed numerous incidents and facts relating to Washington not generally known. Mr. Jones also told of a trip he made through Virginia several years ago, and of a visit to Washington's restored manor house, Mt. Vernon.

One of the outstanding disclosures about Washington was that his birthday actually should be February 11, and not February 22. The change in dates came through the adoption of a new calendar which set all dates ahead 11 days. The new birthday was observed by Washington himself for more than a score of years, Mr. Jones said.

Mr. Jones told of a visit to the Alexander Lodge of the Masonic order, of which Washington was a Master at one time. At that time he had the privilege of sitting in a chair, taken from Washington's library, which for 117 years had been used as the Master's Chair of the lodge. The chair was finally retired from service and housed in a specially constructed glass case, which was removed in order that Mr. Jones might sit down in the piece. An ancestor of the speaker, Thomas Jones Sr., was with Washington's expedition at the crossing of the Delaware, the former city official declared.

Twelve stamps, used in the United States postal service and bearing a picture of Washington, were exhibited, as well as large size reproductions of the portraits.

Simple refreshments were served at the close of the Masonic service.

LAST OLYMPIAD CHURCH ROLL CALL ON SUNDAY

Eager to make a record in attendance, as part of Bethany Church's bit, in cooperation with 500 churches in Southern California in promoting an "Olympiad of Religion," Rev. William Duncan Ogg will conduct the final roll call on Sunday.

"It is amazing how many folks there are in all our communities who take their religious life in the past tense," said Rev. Ogg. "They used to be pillars of the church east of the Mississippi and beyond the Rockies—but having come to California, they declare a moratorium on spirituality."

"I have been conducting a roll call each Sunday and the roll call has revealed, thus far, marvelous possibilities for good. Sunday is the last day of the present church roll call."

State Needs More Modern School Code

County Superintendent Tells Kiwanis Present Laws Do Not Meet Conditions

Archie R. Clifton, Superintendent of Schools for Los Angeles County and past president of the Monrovia Kiwanis Club, talked at the local Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday urging appointment of a commission to reorganize the state's educational system. "Our present school code," he said, "has developed from the time when our school organization was much simpler than today. As a result, much of our school law does not meet modern conditions. It is hoped that sometime a commission will be appointed to reorganize the whole body of school law that it may better fit modern conditions in California." Mr. Clifton commented on the many problems that must be dealt with by his department. It is their endeavor, he said, to further the modernization of the county school courses and to add to the curricula. Much work is necessary to combat the shortage of funds, and to appease the school patrons all over the county who demand boundary changes because they find some minor fault with the school in their particular district.

It is a mistake, he went on, to confuse "school" with "education." Education must include much more than merely the school—the training that the child receives at home, by reading, over the radio, through the church. The school cannot be blamed for all of the failures it turns out any more than it can claim credit for all of the successes.

Just as there is no universality of opinion regarding religion and politics, there can be no complete acceptance of educational methods, said Mr. Clifton, adding that there are always the ultra-conservatives on the one hand and the ultra-progressives on the other. Some people think that school should do nothing more than fit the child for a trade; some think that time should be devoted only to cultural subjects. It is the job of the school authorities to find a workable medium between these two views, he thought.

Concluding his talk, Mr. Clifton said, "We frequently hear that the fundamentals are not dealt with as formerly. Careful study does not substantiate such a belief." The speaker was introduced to the Kiwanians by Frank Spencer, club president. Accompanying him was Bill Tanner, also of the Los Angeles County school department.

PERFECT FOR TOURNAMENT

California, for the first time in its history, will occupy the spotlight of national attention as a winter sports playground when the National Ski Association of America stages its tournament near Tahoe City, February 26, 27 and 28. It will be the first time that the national event has ever been held west of the Rockies, and it has been held for the past 26 years.

Visitors at the meet will find the Tahoe area in its most beautiful dress, with a heavy covering of snow. Besides seeing the events, they will have an opportunity themselves of taking part in the winter sports.

The tournament, which is expected to attract 15,000 people, will be featured by the appearance in competition of the nation's greatest ski stars.

PUPPET SHOW AND SINGING KEEP SIERRA MADRE CHILDREN BUSY IN MODEL AUDITORIUM

By John Copeland.

Valentines and puppets and a single class. These are the chief impressions to be gained by a casual stroll through the Sierra Madre school this week.

The singing class, if one were to seat oneself in its midst, in wait for Miss Phahler, would be entertaining if not overly musical. The most curious phenomenon one would observe: The first row of kids sing loud and fine. The second row sings loud, but not so fine. The third row sings not so loud, and not so fine. From the third row to the very back of the room, comparative silence reigns—but not inactivity, by any means. You would be regarded curiously by the non-singing back row. You would attempt to look important, and sedately aged. But, most probably, you could not succeed.

The sixth grade pupils, under Miss Ballard, put on a puppet show. The Play, being the thing, was "The Golden Fleece." Wobbly, the Argo, sailed into view, with the brave Jason in the prow. Horrible and green, the two-headed snake was slain. Tenderly, albeit woodenly, the hero embraced his love.

The golden fleece was, in actuality, dyed pieces of dishmop glued onto a cloth. The snake was a composite of two five-and-dime jointed reptiles. Under the miniature lights it was almost startlingly real. Faces of the human dolls were made of clay—modeled by the children themselves; the figures were constructed and dressed and painted by them, too.

When the rock was cast, whereby armed warriors sprang from the ground to Jason's aid, breaths were held in prayer that the rock would not turn sideways—and reveal its paper-thin profile. It didn't. Slowly, jerkily, and true, it stuck to its threaupropelled course. Maybe it was dragon's teeth that were sown, to bloom into warriors, anyhow, a rock was likewise cast.

The scene (of which there were five, in all) by the castle gate, was shady. There met Jason and his girl friend, and although they talked of a moon, no moon was included in the props. This part left the audience in the dark. However, Miss Phahler shared in the general opinion that the miniature production was on a par with many professional ones she has seen. Certainly it gave hope of very splendid shows in the future.

Now the puppet cast lies with fractured limbs and pates, in a corner of the stage. The threads that gave them life are badly, hopelessly, tangled. The two-headed snake looks like an elderly tomato worm—with variations.

The valentines? No small Sierra Madre lassie will go unvalentined. The things are being turned out unendingly by Miss Lusted's youngsters. Big hearts and little, red hearts and green. Displayed on the walls, side by side with studies of South American animal life. Alongside those queer looking baby-face monkeys—with green snouts if we are to believe our eyes—are juicy pink hearts, fair bursting with sentiment.

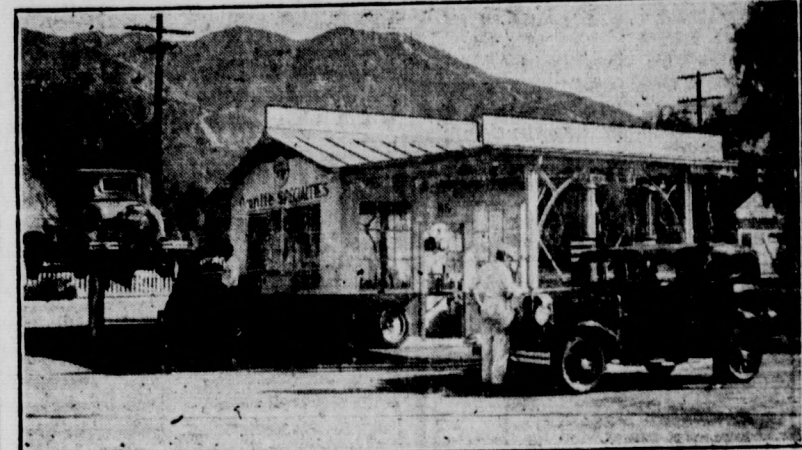

"Miss Phahler, what about our Auditorium here . . . ?" "It's an old story, but I think we've got the best one in the country—and that includes many a high school . . ."

Have You Said to Yourself . . .

"I Would Like An Electric Range?"

WE BELIEVE that nearly every woman has expressed this desire at some time.

We know that nearly 30,000 women in Edison territory have acted on this desire, have purchased electric ranges and are entirely satisfied with their performance.

The Electric Range Is a Superior Cooking Device

It is better than other cooking methods, as the washing machine is better than the tub and the vacuum cleaner is better than the broom.

The electric range is clean. No fumes, soot or odors.

The electric range is cool. All the heat is applied to cooking, none is allowed to escape into the room.

The electric range is convenient. Complete time and temperature control.

The electric range is beautiful. It brings the modern note to the kitchen.

The electric range is economical. The Edison low combination rate keeps operating costs down.

Ask any Edison representative to explain how easy it is to own an Electric Range

March 2, 1889—

The Improvement Club have contributed $15 to assist in making Sierra Madre's display at the Flower Festival. They have something over twenty dollars left in the treasury, which they offer towards a sum of $50 with which it is proposed to have photographs of different local views made, to put on exhibition in connection with the flower display. This is a good idea, and we hope that there will be no trouble in raising the amount needed to get a number of good local views. We start the subscription with one dollar. Next?
